Modern Slavery Statement for the Financial Year 2018/2019

Introduction

This statement is made pursuant to s.54 of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and sets out the steps that the Fragrance Oils Limited Group of Companies ("Fragrance Oils") has taken and is continuing to take to ensure that modern slavery or human trafficking is not taking place within our business or supply chain.

Modern slavery encompasses slavery, servitude, human trafficking and forced labour. Fragrance Oils has a zero tolerance approach to any form of modern slavery. We will refrain from entering into business, and/or will discontinue any current business with any other organisation which knowingly supports or is found to involve itself in slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour. We are committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking within our own business and in our supply chains and to acting ethically and with integrity and transparency in all business dealings and to putting effective systems and controls in place to safeguard against any form of modern slavery taking place within the business or our supply chain.

Our Policy

We accept that we have a responsibility to ensure so far as is possible, that workers are not being exploited, that they are safe and that relevant employment, health and safety, and human rights laws and standards are being adhered to, including freedom of movement and communication. If we believe that these rules are not being adhered to, we will notify the relevant authorities.

Fragrance Oils is committed to ensuring that our employment practices and the enforcement of corporate regulations ensure the protection of the rights of all those who work for us. Our Suppliers

The Fragrance Oils Group of Companies operates a supplier policy and maintains a preferred supplier list.

In accordance with section 54(4) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015, Fragrance Oils has contacted (or attempted to contact) all first tier suppliers to set out our zero tolerance stance on modern slavery and to ensure that slavery and/or human trafficking is not taking place.

Fragrance Oils has not, to its knowledge, conducted any business with another organisation which has been found to have involved itself with slavery and/or human trafficking.

Fragrance Oils believes its exposure to modern slavery to be limited. Nonetheless, it has taken steps to ensure that such practices do not take place in its business or the business of any organisation that supplies goods and/or services to it.

Modern slavery is a complex phenomenon and our risk assessment is intended to give us an insight into the supply chain in order that we can plan, if necessary, appropriate action.

With regard to new suppliers, all new suppliers are asked due diligence questions to determine the steps that they take to eliminate slavery and human trafficking from their supply chain. This forms part of the evaluation criteria behind our selection of new suppliers.

In the operation of its business, Fragrance Oils main supply chains are those related to the provision of raw materials and services.

Our Policies

We operate a number of internal policies to ensure that we are conducting business in an ethical and transparent manner. These include:

1. Anti-slavery policy. This policy sets out the organisation's stance on modern slavery and explains how employees can identify any instances of this and where they can go for help.
2. Recruitment policy. We operate a robust recruitment policy, including conducting eligibility to work in the UK, checks for all employees to safeguard against human trafficking or individuals being forced to work against their will.
3. Whistleblowing policy. We operate a whistleblowing policy so all employees know that they can raise concerns about how colleagues are being treated, or practices within our business or supply chain, without fear of reprisals.
4. Business Code of Conduct and Ethics. This code explains the manner in which we behave as an organisation and how we expect our employees and suppliers to act.
